

Finish of one of the main events of the United Hunts race meet, May 21, at Belmont Terminal. Picture shows Oracle II, taking the last of twenty-eight jumps in the post and rail event. Persons in society turned out in force.

Edwin Levick.

Two prominent young women at the United Hunts meet: Miss Rosalie Bloodgood and Mrs. J. Theus Munds walking toward the tree-shaded paddock.

Underwood & Underwood.

An enthusiastic quartette of the younger set at the United Hunts meet. Left to right: Miss Betty Jackson, Miss Burke Yuille, Miss Fanny Billings, Miss Melissa Yuille.

Paul Thompson.

Baseball team of the New York Bond Club beaten by the Chicago Bond Club at Sleepy Hollow.

The team members are: James McMillen, Walter Taylor, Leslie Vivian, J. C. Anderson, E. E. Williams, R. Bryan, S. P. Barr, W. B. Scarborough, C. E. Robinson, C. H. Sabin, F. H. Clarkson, E. Bacon, P. L. Barnbridge, J. Cutler, E. Currier and D. Mathey.

By a New York Herald Staff Photographer.

Will H. Hays, Jr., only son of the Postmaster-General, is five years old, but is an ardent devotee of sport, as this snapshot shows.

Here's the victorious Chicago Bond Club baseball team.

Members are: Wayne C. Taylor, Lawrence Howe, J. H. Briggs, Frank Whiting, D. L. de Golyer, Philip R. Clarke, Charles B. Stuart, B. Wendell, Jr., T. M. McGowan, F. W. Johnson, Ray E. Bard and Paul E. Dodge.

By a New York Herald Photographer.

Postmaster-General Hays (with goggles) in U. S. mail plane in which he flew from Washington to New York. Gen. Mitchell piloted the machine. Mr. Hays went back by train.

International

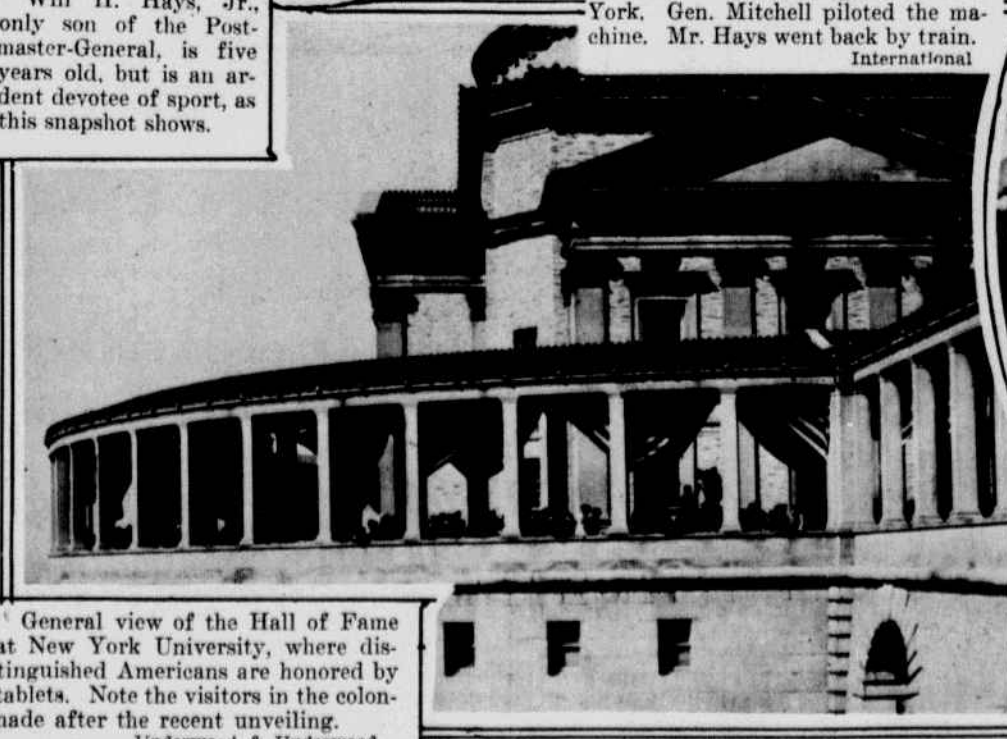

Above — Charles H. Sabin of the Guaranty Trust Company pitching for the New York Bond Club at its outing with the Chicago Bond Club at the Sleepy Hollow Country Club.

By a New York Herald Staff Photographer.

In Circle — Two of more than a dozen babies brought here from England for adoption. They are twins, 18 months old, but don't seem a bit happy.

Copyright, Keystone View

General view of the Hall of Fame at New York University, where distinguished Americans are honored by tablets. Note the visitors in the colonnade after the recent unveiling.

Underwood & Underwood.

Twenty-six Americans were honored by tablets in the Hall of Fame unveiled May 21. Photograph shows Elihu Root, former Secretary of State, speaking of William Cullen Bryant, one of those honored.

International.

Children played a large part at the Morris County (N. J.) Dog Show held May 21. Picture shows Paul Moore, Jr., and George Victor, riding in Mulligan's panniers. Miss Polly Moore is leading the patient animal.

Edwin Levick.